MAKE IT - PERSONALIZE IT - CREATE IT

Step into a world of creativity at the Carnegie-Stout Public Library's Maker Space! We've packed this room with awesome tools like a laser that engraves wood and glass, another one that etches metal and stone, large printers that can turn your photos into puzzles, tumblers or posters, and even machines that help you make your own custom t-shirts and stickers. Want to embroider a hat? Print your own magnets? 3D print a dragon? You can do it all here. The best part? You don't have to know how to use any of it, we'll teach you! We've got the supplies (at cost), the know-how, and the space to help you make something cool. Just bring your ideas (and maybe a little curiosity), and we'll help you turn them into real things you can hold, wear, or give as a gift. If the library is open, the Maker Space is too. Come play, learn, and make something awesome!

CUSTOMIZE IT IN THE MAKERSPACE!

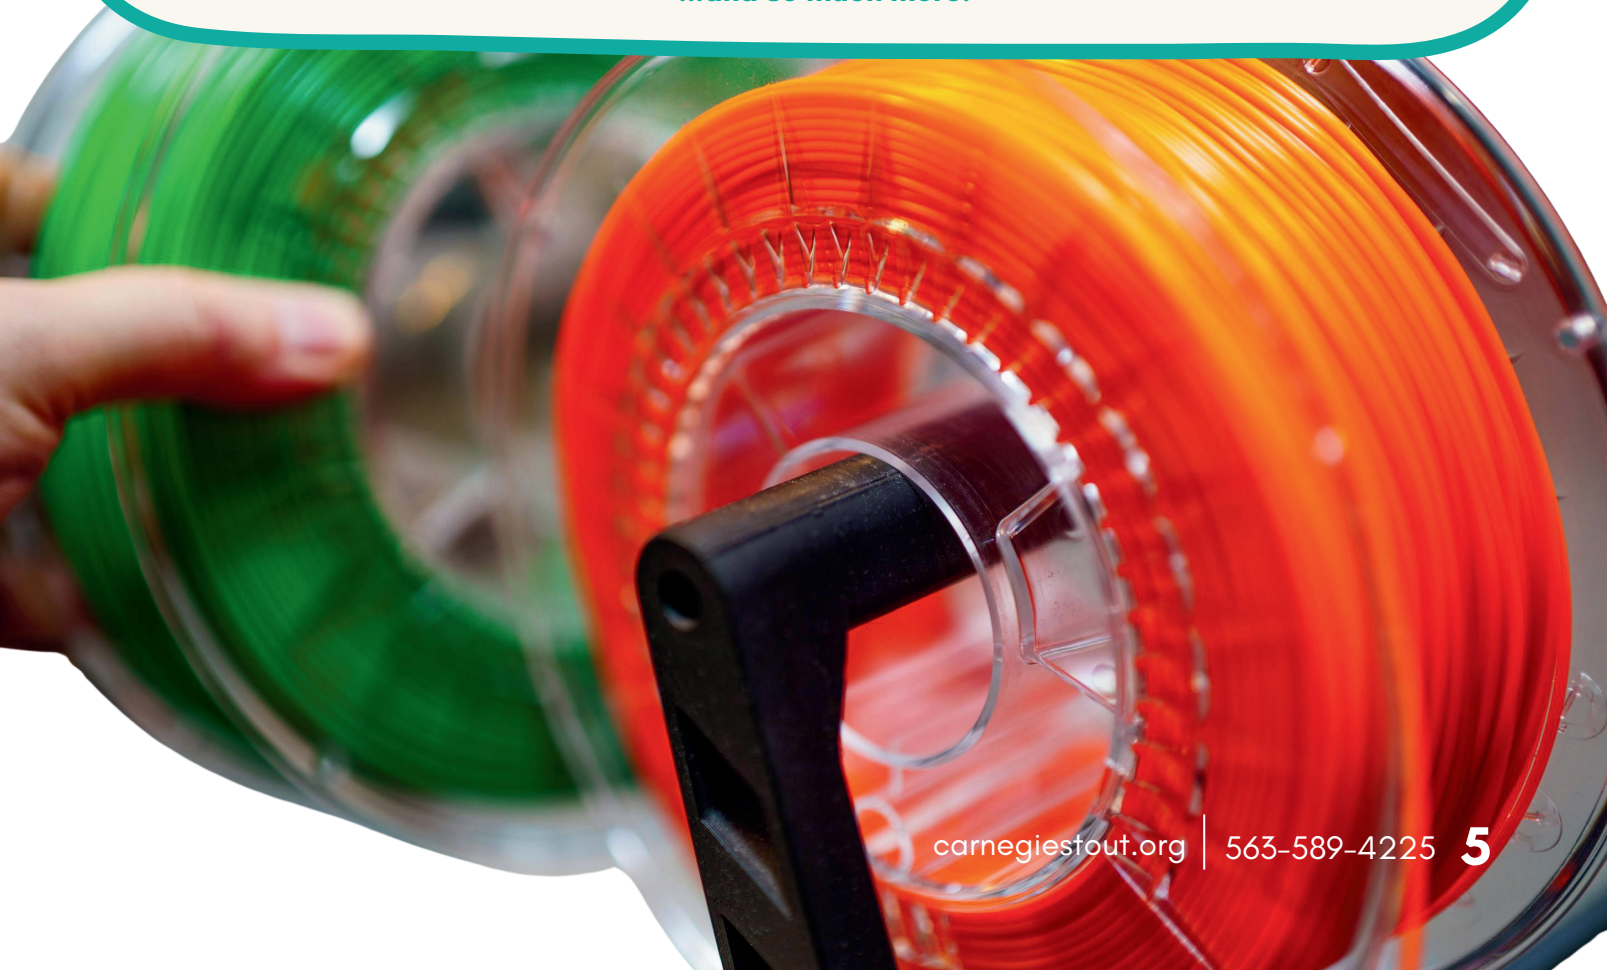

3D Printing projects can be done on one of our seven 3D printers available for public prints. Items can be printed in all sorts of solid and blended colors. Our printers use the .stl file format for 3D models.

Sublimation Printing is a special kind of printing that when heated up can transfer the ink into specially coated materials called "blanks". You can create full color designs to apply to items like mugs, tumblers, puzzles, keychains, hats, coasters, and more. The Maker Space stocks a wide variety of these items to purchase.

Vinyl Print and Cutting can be done in the Maker Space with our Roland BN2-20 printer. This printer can CMYKW print onto a variety of materials to create items like stickers, window clings, heat transfers, canvas prints, signage and more. The BN2 also cuts the material so you can weed without scissors to get professional edges on your items.

CO2 Laser Cutting and Engraving can be done in the Maker Space on our OMTech 60 Watt laser cutter with a workable area of 28" by 20". You can engrave and cut designs into wood and acrylic, engrave on metals with powder coatings, or engrave on glass and leather. We also have two rotary jigs available to suit most types of glasses and tumblers.

It could be a bedtime favorite, a laugh-out-loud picture book, or a story that holds a special memory. Each square will become part of a beautiful, collaborative Story Quilt that shows how reading connects us all.

You can pick up quilt squares from October 15 through November 14, and the completed quilt will be proudly displayed behind the Children's Help Desk throughout the month of November. Help us weave a community story, one square at a time!
