Sageville Elementary Newsletter

March 7, 2019

From the desk of Miss Mac:

We were excited to begin our extended learning minutes this week due to all of the lost instruction. Reading and math are the highlight of this time and all certified adults are assisting in the classrooms for extra support. While our Friday morning professional learning is very important to us, if we continue to have weather issues that disrupt the school day you'll be informed in a timely manner which Friday morning late arrivals may be eliminated.

News flash from the classroom teachers, instructional coaches and principal...please keep reading at home! First and second graders should be reading out loud so you can monitor their reading. This time should be built into your evenings and weekends an extra 20 minutes. That's 500 extra minutes a month of reading.

Kate Biekert and Cassie Loy from John Deere came to Sageville to read to our kindergarten and first grade students last Friday for Read Across America Day
